Dear Mr Talarico,

Tonight during our phone conversation I mentioned finding other peoples cases mixed in the brown box case file Mast turned over to subsequent counsel.

I think I said the name Linda Walters but I was mistaken. It was Kaitlyn D Welter.

Here are the two emails I sent out to find out if Mast or subsequent counsel Balke accidentally put these in my file and offered to return them. Neither Mast nor Balke replied.

The records I found on Kaitlyn D Welter are here:

Here is the email to Mast talking about what I knew was missing from the Brown Box case file at that time.

Of Coarse there was much more missing than I knew of at that time and some key items like the Gagnon recorded phone statement Mast used as an exhibit and Gagnon's answers to Dulberg's Interrogatories, are still missing to this day..

There are many copies of the above mentioned bates numbered documents. If you need the bates numbers of the duplicates let me know and I can pull all of them.

My point in sharing this is because Mast very well may have stuck the Saul Ferris letter in this incomplete, mixed up mess called the brown box file that the Boudin firm took one look at and wouldn't even go through. Boudins only used the second case file from Mast called the brown Jacket file which was neat and orderly and had much more but still wasn't complete.

Paul
